Telefilm Canada: Building audiences for Canadian culture

Established in 1967, Telefilm Canada is a federal cultural agency dedicated to the development and promotion of the Canadian audiovisual industry. With the objective of building larger audiences for Canadian cultural products, the Corporation acts as a partner to the private sector through investments in diverse productions that speak to Canadians and that resonate with audiences around the world. From screenwriting to international markets, Telefilm provides support for a wide variety of industry activities. The Corporation manages a number of initiatives, including the Canada Feature Film Fund and the Canada New Media Fund, and administers the funding programs of the Canadian Television Fund. By promoting Canadian works and talent at major international festivals and markets, and by fostering coproduction partnerships between industry professionals in Canada and their counterparts in more than 50 countries, Telefilm is an innovative and entrepreneurial player on the worldwide market. In 2006, 49 coproductions were produced with total budgets of $371.5 million.
